This includes victims mental and physical abuse along with the recovery process and how they turned their lives around to assist others.

One will learn who traffickers and enablers are and the loopholes that exist allowing billions to be made off the human body, alive and dead. The secondary markets which include the harvesting of organs, skin tissue, bones, eyes, and blood. What one should be aware of before becoming an organ donor. You will read about the power to cover up these crimes by religious organizations and governments.

There are tips on precautionary measures and information to protect one's children from online predators to the positive actions one can take to make a difference. Included is a list of resources, books, documentaries, and films to educate oneself on the topic.

Artist/Author

Ray Rosario is an artist who decided to pursue his passion for art later in life. Transitioning from the corporate sector he had to abandon the person he was and form a new life with his views, perspectives, thoughts, and education in order to create.

The world has formed his ideas, art, philosophy and passion to make a difference with his gift. His work infuses emotion from the darkest emotional state of human complexity to the enlightened state of renewed life. His writings reflect the same views and he sets an example by living his life no different than his words. He has impacted many with his movement for humanity through art, sculptures, films, workshops, lectures, and words.
